

Can you help Sponsor a Saints Peter and Paul Student?

We may remember a time when there were many religious vocations and Catholic education was extraordinarily inexpensive.

But that has all changed.

Our school charges $4,600 tuition – less than our neighboring Catholic schools. With that, we have the finest elementary school education money can buy! Public schools need more than twice that amount to educate their pupils, and the results leave much to be desired.

But public schools are free to parents! With the cost of living in San Francisco and the obstacles that face even moderately well-off families, lack of funds may inhibit children from a truly Catholic education.

The Salesians began by educating the children of the poor, and we are not about to exclude those who cannot make the total fee. But, like Don Bosco before us, we need help.

Do we have parishioners and/or friends who might consider sponsoring a student who would be forced to leave the school unless there were some help?

Can you support a student for a month, a semester, a year, or more?
Recipient family qualifications will be verified by Saints Peter and Paul School.

We would love to work out a plan for you. For information, please call 415-421-0809
